In-class assignments

- Write a Python program that requests four integer values from the user. It then prints the maximum and minimum values entered.