In-class assignments

- Please write a function to count the number of a substring in a string. The function should take two strings as parameters, str1 and str2, and returns the number of the str2 in str1. Please do not use string methods. Please write some codes to test your function.